The highway will undergo 2 phases: Phase 1 will consist of a process called cold in-place recycling (CIR). This will involve milling up the top 4 inches of the road and taking in portions of the shoulders, crush and blend, add emulsion and then place the mixture right back on the road. This is all done by a long “train” of equipment. They will do one side of the road at a time. Once phase 1 has been completed and the road is allowed to “cure”, a microsurface application (Phase 2) will be placed over the CIR. This is a mobile operation that applies a thin layer of polymer modified cold-mix to the surface of the road. After that, the road will be shouldered and striped.
